

Network map of personal stories from interviews

During our research we interviewed people and listened to their personal stories related to deforestation or loss of green space. We have included our own stories aswel (Tanzania, Linschoten and Stockholm). This map provides an overview of the results of our conversations.